

Activity

Read through the Batista case study on gender development and the table of the Key Psychology Approaches. Which approach, in your opinion, is the most useful explanation for this condition and which is the least useful one? Plot the explanations on the continuum below.

Justify your decision below

Do you think that some approaches may actually work better together when explaining what happened to the 'girls' genitalia? If so, which ones?