

Deadly Dose: Poisons and their uses in Fiction

This presentation introduces the fundamentals of toxicology, exploring how poisons affect the human body and the science behind their potency. It also examines how writers use poisons in media, comparing popular portrayals with real-world mechanisms. By blending science and storytelling, the session reveals which poisonings are plausible, which are exaggerated, and how toxicology shapes some of the most memorable moments in media.

- Thursday 14th May
- 5pm
- Urmston Grammar Theatre

Our community lecture series has been designed to provide a super-curricular opportunity for students, particularly those in the 6th form, to experience university level teaching with an expert in their field.